Open you Heart for KINDER des LICHTS

This is a blessed time of opportunity. It is a time when the consciousness of the world can change. This can happen through wholeheartedly opening and giving from our hearts. As we let go of past judgments, we receive the call for help. Instead, as we give our love and compassion, miracles can pour through from heaven. If enough of us become dedicated to going beyond limitations -- through love and miracles then a renaissance will occur as has never yet been seen on the earth. In this, we embrace a common purpose of helping the world, and bringing heaven back to earth. During this time of opportunity, there are those who are helping us to awaken humanity to the possibility of the beauty and abundance that comes from bringing new light to the earth. Be a light bringer. Be a messenger. Keep the fire of love lit in your heart for all you come in contact with during the day. If we keep faith during this time, and if we keep the light lit in this darkest hour just before the dawn -- then as the dawn breaks there will be a new golden age for humanity, a leap forward in our evolution toward the light.

Many of the beings coming in now are old beings. They are coming into a place which to them looks devastated because of the lack of bonding in our society. While we are doing better as a world than we have done in a very long time, there are still extremes of war, conflict, suffering, starvation and poverty. These children have come in to help change that but it is still a shock for them.

What we can do now is to bond with others through heart connections to make ourselves more whole. This will create more support for these children. We generate a new level of bonding with everything we heal. Every attachment we let go of, we discover a new level of bonding that has been waiting for us. Each time we unite with, or forgive someone, we create a new level of bonding. Every time we communicate in order to build a bridge to someone we open a new level of bonding. This can create a safety net of love. Bonding is love, and generates success with ease. Everything becomes easy.

Whatever we are dealt in the game of life, we inherited through the ancestors. Whether these children have come to deal with that, or as part of their blueprint agenda, they brought this knowledge forth to learn about and to heal themselves and others for the sake of the world. The more we unite with these children the happier they will be. No matter what's coming, whether it be visions or nightmares, the more we unite with them the more we create love in a world of hate. As we interact with everyone, love begins to spread; not only in the world, but also in the unconsciousness of the world. The suffering in the world is alienated, and the lack of care in the world begins to change. The more we bond together with everyone, friends, our family, present partner, ex-partners, etc. the more helpful it is for all of these people. The children are here to lead us. They are like the newest computer, the newest car, and the newest anything. If we treat them in the old ways we will not recognize all their new features and their special gifts that they are bringing to the earth. They are born at a higher level of consciousness. They will remain that way to lead us forward, unless we fail to heal ourselves through bonding and consequently pass present conflicts onto them. They come at a significant turning point in time. It is a time of great opportunities, which is why so many advanced children are coming in. They knew that this is a time for their consciousness of uniting, and that this is a time when their gifts are needed.

When there seems to be conflicts with them, there can be an acting-out of some of our hidden patterns, as any child acts out the unconscious habits of their parents. What they act out is simply there to be healed; and one of the main ways to heal is through bonding, and through love.

As we keep connected with them they feel confirmed; and overcome any challenge that they are facing. Many children today, if not in a well-to-do family, face frequent challenges. Each time we surround them with love we create the support strings, ropes, and cables for a lifetime. Each gift of love we share with them as we hold them, as we touch them, confirms in them who they really are. This brings them to a whole new level of sensitivity, awareness, and giftedness. The bonding that happens through touch is especially reassuring. It encourages them that there is a relationship here, there is love here, and there is friendship. As the bonds of a lifetime develop in a relationship, a family, a group, or a workplace the strands of bonding are woven into a golden fabric of peace, shared respect, and love that helps the world to develop into heaven on earth. These KINDER des LICHTS are the emissaries and harbingers of the coming age.
